Call to Worship

---

The Scriptural call to worship at the beginning of our service is a reminder that, as we gather, it is God who initiates and reveals Himself to us through His Word, and we respond to Him.

*Oh sing to the Lord a new song;
sing to the Lord, all the earth!
Sing to the Lord, bless his name;
tell of his salvation from day to day.
Declare his glory among the nations,
his marvelous works among all the peoples!*

Psalm 96:1-3

Corporate Confession

---

During this time we acknowledge that we have sinned against a holy God, and we have the assurance that, because of Christ, we have been forgiven and are blessed recipients of God's mercy, grace and love.

If we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

1 John 1:8-9

Offering

Giving is an act of worship in which we give generously of our substance to further the mission of the church and to bring glory to God.

Orphans, Adoption and the Heart of the Gospel

by Chelsea Sobolik

Currently, there are approximately 153 million orphaned children worldwide. It's important to note that, quite often, the word "orphan" doesn't necessarily mean that both parents are deceased. In most cases, the parents or a family member is unable to take care of a child, therefore "orphaning" the child. Most of the world's orphaned children actually have at least one living parent, but are living in a developing country where poverty serves as the largest catalyst for orphans. Children thrive best in families, not institutions or orphanages, and every effort should be made by governments and NGO's to equip families to stay together. Unfortunately that can't always happen, and children are in need of a safe, permanent and loving family.

So, what does the orphan crisis look like in our own country? In the United States, there are almost 428,000 children in the foster care system. Approximately 111,820 of those children are eligible for adoption, but nearly one-third (32 percent) of those children will wait over three years before being adopted into a permanent, loving family. The Dave Thomas Foundation estimated that 81.5 million Americans have considered adoption, and if just one in 500 of these adults adopted, every waiting child in the U.S. would have a permanent family.

Getting involved in the welfare of children is one of the clearest ways to demonstrate and live out the gospel—both in a child's life, and to display to the watching world what is most valuable to us. Adoption and child welfare should be viewed like the Great Commission—not everyone is called to go, but everyone is called to make disciples. In the same way, not everyone is called to adopt, but we are commanded to take care of the least vulnerable of the world—and orphans are among the least vulnerable! James 1:27 says that "Religion that is pure and undefiled before God the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their affliction."

Adoption is at the very core of the gospel. John Piper said it well when he taught, "The gospel is not a picture of adoption, adoption is a picture of the gospel." God pursued us when we were helpless and hopeless. He called us to be his sons and daughters, he chose us, gave us his name, gave us an eternal inheritance and, above all else, invites us to call him "Father".

The Gospel and Adoption

The Scriptures present adoption as one of the primary metaphors for becoming a Christian (Gal 4:5, Eph 1:4–5, Rom 8:15). At Hickory Grove, we recognize adoption to be one of the clearest pictures of the Gospel. We were once alienated from God, hostile in mind, and without God in the world. However, through faith in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus, we can be reconciled as sons of God and co-heirs with Christ. It follows, then, that Christians would be enthusiastic about adoption and foster care. Our enthusiasm is accentuated by the clear adoption and foster care need in the greater Charlotte area. Equipped with the conviction that children are a blessing from the Lord (Psalm 127:3), we are poised to offer safe, stable, and Godly homes to boys and girls in need of a family. We hope you will be encouraged as we consider our role in effecting Gospel change in our community through adoption and foster care.

Part 1: God, Creation & Fall, Law

QUESTION 11

What does God require in the sixth, seventh, and eighth commandments?

Sixth, that we do not hurt, or hate, or be hostile to our neighbor, but be patient and peaceful, pursuing even our enemies with love. Seventh, that we abstain from sexual immorality and live purely and faithfully, whether in marriage or in single life, avoiding all impure actions, looks, words, thoughts, or desires, and whatever might lead to them. Eighth, that we do not take without permission that which belongs to someone else, nor withhold any good from someone we might benefit.

For the commandments, "You shall not commit adultery, You shall not murder, You shall not steal, You shall not covet," and any other commandment, are summed up in this word: "You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

Romans 13:9

PRAYER

Faithful Shepherd of Our Souls, you created us to live in love and fellowship on the earth, but we fail in that again and again. May your love rule every relationship so that we walk in purity, putting away lust, covetousness, and greed, for your name's sake. Amen.
